

NCBI (National Council for the Blind of Ireland) is the national sight loss agency, which offers support and services to people of all ages who are experiencing difficulties with their eyesight. The council employs approximately 300 staff throughout Ireland in a wide range of roles and functional areas. To support its growth plans, NCBI is seeking to appoint the following highly specialised positions;

National Services Manager

You will contribute to the strategic development of the Organisation and will be responsible for leading service delivery and development within NCBI. Working with the other National Services Managers, this will be achieved through the management of a range of services to meet the growing needs of our service users enabling people who are blind and vision impaired to overcome the barriers that impede their independence and participation in society. The ideal candidate for this position will have a significant background in disability services delivery and management in a similar or a closely related area.

Chief Technology Officer

You will provide innovative vision and leadership for the development and implementation of technology in support of NCBI's strategic objectives in the context of a rapidly changing technology, social and business environment. You will oversee NCBI's overall technology utilization, innovation and support plans, and manage all of its information technology resources. The ideal candidate for this position will have significant experience in a senior information technology role and a demonstrable understanding of Assistive Technology.
